ATHENS

Description

A truly unique house in a historic building of 1930. It consists of 4 master bedrooms, 1 small bedroom, 3 living-rooms, a large dining-room, a smaller dining-room with lounge, 2 bathrooms, 1 WC, 1 large kitchen and a large reception area/hallway. Explore Greek culture, philosophy & art, while living in a beautiful 1930's historic residence in Central Athens. Throughout its long history, the 1930's home has hosted famous visitors like Maria Callas, Melina Mercouri, Hollywood stars and discrete royalty, who have enjoyed its amazing bohemian ambiance. It is one of the central city's few Art Deco style buildings and has been characterised as one of the most beautiful residences in Central Athens. In the late 1980s it was bought and renovated by an international banker (and earlier Greek-resistance hero) and his wife artist and collector. After many decades of neglect, the eccentric couple took on the 360sqm apartment for renovation. Staying true to its original style, they transformed it into a unique living environment again. The residence has very high ceilings and large rooms. It still has the original paint on the walls and is very atmospheric. Situated on a tree-lined café-filled pedestrian only street, the apartment overlooks the renowned café-filled, pedestrian zone of Fokionos Negri. Close to transportations and the future metro station.
