

Splendid stone mansion in Hydra

HYDRA

Description

This prominent property consists of the main house, a guest cottage and a series of private gardens and terraces, all with exquisite views to the sea, village and mountains. The hillside where the property is located is very peaceful and the compound is very private but within minutes one can reach the heart of the port and the nearby swimming coves. Built in 1880 and renovated to very high standards, it has a living space of 258 m² on a plot of 569 m². The main residence is on two floors. The ground floor comprises the bright living and dining room with fireplace, the kitchen, 1 spacious bedroom and a bathroom. On the first floor there is a huge master suite with a study, fireplace and a large in-suite bathroom. It has many windows facing the harbor and access to a private balcony with great views. One more large bedroom and a bathroom complete the upper floor. On the ground floor from the courtyard, is a separate charming guest cottage with a beautiful corner fireplace. A bathroom lies just steps away. Above the cottage is a flat roof terrace which can be enjoyed during the warmer season. The secluded garden offers a shaded living space while the courtyard and the terrace are perfect for summer evenings. They offer cozy sitting, dining and relaxing areas as well as spectacular views in all directions (the harbor, the sea, the town and the inland mountains). The property is in immaculate condition and is one of the finest villas currently for sale on the island. Impeccably finished and presented it is perfect for a couple's romantic getaway or a family's summer house.
